About Me

I am Liwani Mercy B. España, a 23-year-old third-year student taking up Bachelor of Information Systems at Caraga State University, College of Computing in Information Sciences. I am eager to learn new things and continuously improve my skills, especially through self-learning using platforms like YouTube.

I have experience in graphic design using Figma, video editing, and basic web design. I am passionate about developing my creativity and technical skills, and I am always open to learning and exploring new opportunities in the field of technology.
